Darwin's multi-award winning agent May Dunlop has just created another milestone for the Northern Territory by joining forces with Sotheby's International Realty.

I'm extremely focused and strive to get the best result for my clients. By joining Sotheby's International Realty, I can now offer my clients an even more superior service with both global marketing and property advertising.

'While I've never been drawn to large agencies, after much planning and research, I couldn't go past the opportunity to introduce them to Darwin and put the Northern Territory on the global map,' May said. 'Sotheby's Realty is a successful international luxury real estate company, and the brand is innovative and unique. 'I'm extremely focused and strive to get the best result for my clients. By joining Sotheby's Realty, I can now offer my clients an even more superior service with both global marketing and property advertising. Buyers and sellers will continue to have the same exceptional Top End Real Estate service I've always provided, but with the added luxury part of the market that Sotheby's Realty offers. Clients will also benefit from their experience and the powerful resources that come with a global brand. Listings will now receive worldwide attention and exposure. 'We'll still offer properties in all price ranges, and share the distinctive characteristics of each with innovative marketing, rather than a particular price,' adds May. 'Our local properties will be showcased throughout Australia and the world. 'My clients can rest assured that my fabulous team and I will remain the same, providing successful results in the local market. I have an intimate knowledge of the north. I grew up in Darwin and am raising my family here. It's a great place to live and continue to grow the business,' she continues. 'But we always welcome a conversation with experienced local agents who have the same values, and are interested in working with a global brand.' The Sotheby's Realty, Northern Territory office is now open. If you would like to know any further details about the brand and the benefits of listing with Sotheby's Realty, May and her winning team look forward to hearing from you. For further information call May Dunlop, Sotheby's International Realty Darwin on 0421 037 034 E: may.dunlop@sothebysrealty.com
