

They say diamonds are a girl's best friend, and that is certainly the case for Joy Arnott from Star Barber, who has an exquisite and rare pink diamond ring custom designed and crafted by Darwin's diamond experts Hoskings Jewellers.

You had better come in and look at this. When I opened the ring box I was amazed. The ring was stunning.

Local jeweller extraordinaire Aidan McCaw is a passionate craftsman who has worked his magic on jewellery old and new for over 30 years at Hoskings. He can create and repair anything – with love! Sit down for a one-on-one with Aidan and receive a tailored service to transform unloved old or broken jewellery into contemporary pieces using the latest computer-aided design (CAD) technology for jewellery that looks fantastic and significantly increases in value. Hoskings is renowned as Darwin's diamond and South Sea pearl specialists, sourcing the finest champagne and pink diamonds. Hoskings is also the exclusive stockist of hearts and arrow diamonds and created the annual Starlight Ball "Champagne Diamond" charity prize. Joy's partner noticed she appeared to be attracted to circular rings and pink diamonds. 'I sought out Clinton Hoskings for advice and, over a number of appointments, Clinton patiently and fastidiously helped design the ring I had in mind,' he said. 'There was quite a wait for the now very rare pink diamonds I wanted. Clinton called me in to see them when they eventually arrived, and to discuss how he intended to work them into a ring. A month or so later Clinton gave me a call and said, "You had better come in and look at this". When I opened the ring box I was amazed. The ring was stunning. The workmanship was simply superb. I could not be more grateful to Hoskings, whose personal attention and care for my project made it the success it became and still is.'
