As immigrants themselves and Registered Migration Agents (RMA), sisters Margie Dizon and Cecilia Dela Vega understand the many issues faced by migrants. 'After achieving our dream of bringing our father to Australia, we realised there were many families in a similar situation that have spent too much time away from their loved ones. Having also worked for the Hanuman restaurant, which relied on talented chefs with authentic skills from overseas, we realised that through skilled and family migration we can grow the Territory. Migration Corporation of Australia was born and now thousands of people share in the joy of bringing their families together,' Margie says. The sisters' degrees in psychology, accounting, combined with migration law, mean they have the cultural sensitivity and unique perspective when designing solutions to migration problems converting temporary to permanent visas. Migration Corporation is Darwin's most dedicated, ethical and professional migration agent. Renowned for working with clients sensitively and confidently, the team teaches you how to do it yourself, or they can do it all for you from beginning to end. 'We enable people to make informed decisions that are sound, clear and confident, allowing them to live and work in Australia permanently. We help build a talented and skilled Territory while also assisting local businesses. We are privileged to work with clients from different walks of life and create happy families with successful migration journeys.'
