It's a year since May joined Sotheby's International Realty as Darwin Director and Licensee, opening the first NT office in June 2018. 'Despite the market and economy being at an all-time low, we are steadily selling properties and the business is growing and expanding,' May said. 'Interest rates are still low, and the NT Government is offering a variety of incentives, especially for first-home buyers.'

International Realty listings include multi-million-dollar residential properties, luxury rural estates, and a variety of apartments, townhouses, units and family homes across Darwin, Palmerston and the rural area. 'While we're always looking for qualified, experienced sales personnel, we've just employed an experienced property manager, Sue Don, to lead and drive our newly created leasing and property management team,' May continued. 'Our sales clients have experienced our superior services and want us to manage their investments, so it made sense to expand the business in this area.'

May has recently been recognised as a rising star in the world's largest luxury real estate network for 2019, a prestigious, global honour. 'Over the last 12 months May has demonstrated a level of professionalism and service to her clientele that is difficult to match,' Graham Bowie, Group Managing Director – Greater Australia Sotheby's International Realty said. 'Beginning her real estate career at the age of 20, May leads the Darwin flagship office, which is a valuable addition to our respected global network.' Sotheby's International Realty is the world's largest luxury real estate agency with a global network of more than 22,500 sales associates, and 990 offices in 72 countries.
