PROFESSIONAL TATTOO REVERSAL

Statistics show that 25 percent of Australians under the age of 30 have a tattoo, and more than a quarter of that group regret getting it. While tattoos were once considered permanent, it is now possible to remove them with treatments, either wholly or partially.

Fully qualified Dermal Therapist Holly has 10 years laser experience.

RevLite SI laser treatments are quick, comfortable and precise.

The tool of choice these days is a laser, but that doesn't mean those using it need any medical training in the fast-growing – and largely unregulated – tattoo removal industry. Holly Copping, owner of Territory Laser Clinic, has seen more than a few patients who've suffered permanent scarring at the hands of an unskilled operator. With ten years laser experience, college degree qualified Dermal Therapist Holly will ensure your designs are safely removed, returning your skin to its former glory.

'Removal techniques have come a long way, and our medical-grade RevLite SI laser is considered the gold-standard in Q-Switched Nd:YAG laser technology,' said Holly. 'It also has four wavelengths instead of the standard two, to target a wide range of colours, from blue, black and red, to orange and purple.' The RevLite laser gently vibrates and shatters the tattoo ink, which feels like a snapping rubber band, followed by a warm sensation. Temporary whitening will follow the first treatment, and over time the tattoo particles will fade, and the skin will return to its natural colour. RevLite treatments are quick and comfortable and suitable for all skin types. 'If you have a tattoo you love but want to remove part of it for personal or professional reasons, we're able to do that without damaging other areas of the tattoo,' added Holly. 'Our laser eliminates tattoos precisely, plus we can effectively fade a tattoo in preparation for a cover-up. We are a result orientated clinic, and our fully qualified professionals are trained to assess your tattoos and will develop an affordable treatment plan that works for you.'

Dermal Therapist Holly uses the VISIA to develop your treatment plan.

VISIA identifies precisely your skin problems.

'People don't usually know the difference between a beauty salon and what we offer,' explains Holly. 'Beauty therapists do not specialise in dermal therapies, whereas a Dermal Therapist has completed a nationally accredited dermal therapy qualification. Our studies include dermal science, cosmetic chemistry, nutrition and cosmeceutical science so we can safely perform advanced skin therapies such as acne treatments, acne scarring, stretch marks, chemical peels, laser skin rejuvenation, vascular and pigmented lesions and more.'

TLC has the only 7th Generation VISIA Complexion Analysis System in the Territory. 'It provides a comprehensive view of your skin's health — its texture, pores, red areas, UV spots, wrinkles and acne bacterial excretions,' Holly adds. 'Its in-depth report allows us to devise individual treatment plans to gain the best possible result for the client. It's excellent for acne analysis and measuring the success over time.'

Acne is the most common of skin diseases affecting both males and females in the Territory. It can have a huge physical and emotional impact whether you get it as a teenager or adult, but it can be successfully treated and managed. 'Everyone wants to get rid of their acne quickly, but quick fixes or drugs just don't last. Pimples take three months to form, and the wrong products can aggravate your skin and make your acne worse. The reality is treating acne takes time and patience,' continues Holly. 'At Territory Laser Clinic we change what's happening to the skin internally, safely and effectively, producing long-lasting benefits. The upside is you'll see results along on the way.'

TLC patients range from 9 to 86 years of age. 'During consultations, we take our time — planning and explaining the various options to suit their means and lifestyle and ensuring they will be comfortable with the outcome,' said Holly. 'We're a result orientated clinic. It's important clients feel amazing in the skin they're in.'
