Although based in Darwin, BTC Constructions' work spreads far and wide around the Territory and across Northern Australia.

"Our professional teams have worked in remote communities, mine sites, defence bases. Plus, on city multi-storey buildings, hotel and office refurbishments, residential builds and renovations, public housing and much more," says BTC Constructions Managing Director Brendan Cunningham.

"From rigorous project management to job oversights, no job is too big or small. We provide our clients with options, guaranteed quality and precision."

Renowned for their quality craftsmanship, professionalism, reliable service, safety and completing jobs on time and within budget, BTC Constructions has won multiple accolades for its projects.

But Brendan's proudest moments are when his apprentice, Jami Brooks, won both the 2020 and 2021 Master Builders NT Apprentice of the Year, and last month, the 2021 Master Builders James Bell Overall Australian Apprentice of the Year.

"Jami goes from strength to strength. He moved to the Territory and joined BTC in 2017 and hasn't looked back," says Brendan. "Seeing the younger ones so passionate about our craft makes all the hard work over the last decade so rewarding."

Although Brendan was born in New Zealand, his trade working life was shaped through firsthand experience of Australia's harsh environment and what the elements can do and how they affect the construction and the products used.

"We're meticulous about using quality products that will stand the test of time. We believe in doing the job right the first time," Brendan says. "It ensures BTC's outstanding work and our client's words speak for themselves."

"BTC Constructions have undertaken five hotel projects for us. All were completed on time and budget," says Brent Tobin, Spaceergo Managing Director.

"From full demolition and refurbishment of the 235 rooms at DoubleTree by Hilton Hotel Alice Springs to parts of the new lobby, Palm Court Lounge Bar and PepperBerry Restaurant at Hilton Darwin, their hard work, craftsmanship and a keen eye for detail have been remarkable."
